

Wanted: Underwater Infrastructure Planner

Preparing today's students for tomorrow

Cast your mind forward five or ten years, to a time when your child is applying for their first job in new or emerging industries that don't exist today. All of a sudden, positions like Underwater Infrastructure Planner don't seem too far-fetched.

That's why Victorian schools are working with you to prepare your child for tomorrow.

Teaching and learning

Preparing your child for tomorrow is about more than just the world of work. It's about preparing them for life, for continuous learning and for becoming happy and successful adults. Find out how our Victorian schools are leading the way with innovative and modern teaching practices.

Student wellbeing

Students thrive in safe and supportive environments. And like you, our schools treat the health and wellbeing of every child as a priority. Find out about the programs and tools available to help your child build skills to prepare them for whatever the future holds.

Beyond school

With so many different options available to your child, now and into the future, it's important to start career conversations today. Find out about the tools available to help your child make informed decisions about courses, pathways and industries.

To see how your child is being prepared for the future
visit www.education.vic.gov.au/futureready